CONSTIPATION

I Have No Intention of Resigning in Favor of Anyone, Says Senator Geo. C. Perkins

PROSPERITY IS ASSURED BY TARIFF

Senator Tells How California's Interests Have Been Well Safeguarded

PRAISES TAFT FOR HIS WORK IN OFFICE

Has Brain of Harrison and Taft of McKinley, States Western Law Maker

WHY RESIGN, ASKS SENATOR

Senator Perkins, when informed of the rumor that a part of a program in Republican politics was for him to resign the position of Senator for the purpose of enabling Governor Gillett to be his successor, said:

"I have been a senator during the past sixteen years, and during that period I have been absent from my desk only five days when the Senate was in session. As long as I am able to discharge the duties of the position, and, as I know that I am able to do it now and will continue to be able to do it in the future, I see no reason why I should retire in the interest of any person. If I were not able to attend to the duty of the position, of course there would be such a reason. Besides, so long as the people have shown their confidence in me by electing me to this office, I am going to stay by the position and not step aside. Governor Gillett is making a very good governor."

The new tariff act, in my opinion, is a good bill. No bill of the kind has ever been so carefully and laboriously considered.

In fact, every product of California soil either retains the Dingley rate, which has proved to be satisfactory, or has been further protected by an increase in the duty on competing products. The vineyard, the orchard and the field are, on the whole, therefore in a better condition to meet opposition than under the old law.

In these words, with a tone of conviction in his voice, in an interview with a TRIBUNE reporter last evening at the Senator's home, Senator George C. Perkins, who had just returned from his five months of arduous labor at Washington, expressed his opinion of the meritorious and practical character of the new tariff bill, and especially the effect of the same in its operation upon the products of California.

Long, Hard Session

For the last sixteen years Senator Perkins has been returning from 1,400 and laborious sessions of the Senate at the national capital, but at none of these sessions were there more demands made upon the patience of a capacity for work, the physical endurance, the political information, the economic principles and the patriotism of the lawmaker than at the session which has just come to a close.

The weather at the capital was blistering and, while millions of people, elsewhere, had taken work and care aside and were resting on the seashore and in the mountains, the Senator and the other members of the congressional delegation from California sat sweltering in their seats fighting for protection for home products and in a special manner, in order that the interests of California might not be injured under hostile legislation.

Was Never Absent

And yet, during all these months of mental effort and physical discomfort, there was not a day that the Senator was absent from his seat in the chamber of the upper house nor from a meeting of a committee at which he could give information and advice as to the action which the best interests of the country required should be taken by Congress.

Regardless of this devotion to his work and after the expenditure of great physical and mental effort, the Senator returns in good health after a slight rest, to resume his private business which has so long been without his personal supervision.

His return to his desk, however, will be with pleasure allied with pain, because the Senator will no longer meet in his daily routine of work, the late Captain Edwin Goodall, who was a business associate of his for the past thirty-six years. The captain died while Senator Perkins was in Washington, the latter's duties there preventing him from returning home to pay to his last formal respect to a cherished friend and associate.

Senator Perkins expressed himself as delighted to be at home again, declaring that he would rather be penniless here than a rich man in Washington. He said he wanted rest but inquired, in return, where one could find more grateful and inspiring rest than in the equable climate of this side of the bay.

Won't Resign

Senator Perkins does not intend to resign from the Senate, as has been rumored, in the interest of Gov. Gillett. He says he thinks Gov. Gillett is making a good governor, but at the same time he sees no reason why he should leave public life in the interest of any person.

He also speaks in the highest manner of President Taft, who, he declares, has the learning and judicial ability of Harrison, who was, possibly, the most brilliant of Presidents and, at the same time, the tact of McKinley.

The Senator regretted that the ships of the United States Government, which are to be at the Portola celebration, namely four cruisers and ten torpedo boats, could not be increased, but he declared it was impossible. When the Commissioner of the Portola festival had gone to Washington to secure the attendance of a number of war vessels for the celebration, he was shown every courtesy and this application of the festival commission was had before the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of State, but the most liberal allowance of vessels which could be made was that above outlined.

The Senator explained the situation by declaring that the stations of the ships and the cruises are determined six months, sometimes a year, ahead and that, as a consequence vessels could not be brought to San Francisco without displacing the whole assignment to station, because, at the time of the request, the ships were thousands and thousands of miles distant. He recalled the fact that he advocated the idea of having an Atlantic fleet on the Pacific Coast, and would have been pleased had there been a chance of having a fleet imposing array of vessels at the festival in question.

Friend of Navy

"I am," he continued, "a friend of the navy and have always been its friend. The navy has been a hobby of mine, because I am a sailor. I am a sailor by necessity and a politician by accident." Speaking of President Taft, the Senator said:

"Taft has all the ability and judicial quality and learning of Harrison, with the tact of McKinley. A person having business with him cannot but be impressed with his patriotism, his loyalty to the Government and the honesty of his policy in the interest of the people."

The Senator was informed of the rumor which was current here a few weeks ago that a part of a program in Republican politics was for him to resign the position of Senator for the purpose of enabling Gov. Gillett to be his successor. He had not heard of the rumor before and by way of reply said:

"I have attended 'each day's meeting' of the session of Congress for the past five months which has just come to a close. I have been a senator during the past sixteen years and during that period I have been absent from my desk only five days when the Senate was in session. In that time, save on three days, I have never missed a daily session of or a meeting of any committee of that body of which I was a member. During that time I haven't been out of the city and as long as I am able to discharge the duties of the position and this reference shows that I have been able to do it in the past, and as I know that I am able to do it now and will continue to be able to do it in the future, I see no reason why I should retire in the interest of any person. If I were not able to attend to the duty of the position, of course there would be such a reason. Besides, so long as the people have shown their confidence in me by electing me to this office, I am going to stay by the position and not step aside. Governor Gillett is making a very good governor."

Praises Knowland

"Congressman Knowland has the confidence and respect of congressmen and all who know him like him. He works hard for California and the Pacific Coast."

Recalling the death of his former business associate, Captain Edwin Goodall, the Senator said:

"The passing of Edwin Goodall was a great shock to me. I have been associated with Captain Goodall for thirty-five years. He was a man of sagacity and integrity. There were business and social relations between us. He was a good friend. He was not a man of pretension. He was an amiable but he was temperate, modest and honest and I feel greatly the regret that I shall no longer have his assistance."

New Tariff Law

With respect to the details of the new tariff law, Senator Perkins spoke as follows:

"The new tariff act is, in my opinion, a good measure. No bill of the kind has ever received more careful and laborious consideration. It has been so earnestly debated, or has had more searching light turned on every provision.

"In the Dingley tariff act, Congress

KRUTTSCHNITT TO COME NORTH

Railway Official to Arrive in San Francisco After Mexican Tour

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and way of the Harriman lines, will arrive here late tonight from Los Angeles. Kruttschnitt has been inspecting the lines of the Mexican Central and Southern Pacific, having left here about a week ago for Mexico City.

At Los Angeles, Kruttschnitt was met by W. R. Scott, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific Company. Following a brief conference early this morning with General Superintendent J. V. Platt of the southern district of the Southern Pacific Company, they will leave for this city, arriving here late tonight.

had to create a new bill from top to bottom, to replace the Democratic measure. This work, with an earnest and harmonious congress, consumed four months and a half. The present congress has taken longer to consider and revise the Dingley law than it took to frame that measure, which is striking evidence of the care which has been devoted to this bill.

"The result is a law which is a sure foundation for national prosperity and rapid and healthy business growth. The pledges of the Republican party in its platform have been fulfilled, and, where it has been possible to reduce duties without striking domestic interests, lower rates have been adopted. Luxuries have, in many cases, been given higher rates which those who use them are amply able to pay.

"Of the $852,000,000 worth of goods in which duties have been increased, nearly $800,000,000 represents luxuries pure and simple, whose users will care nothing for the increased cost.

Decrease in Duty

"The duty has been decreased on nearly $3,000,000,000 worth of imports, or on nearly six times as many goods as those on which there is an increase. In other words, where there has been an increase of duty on one's dollar worth of imports, there has been a reduction of duty on six dollars' worth. Many of the increases are, too, more apparent than real, for, while they increase the duty actually collected on certain classes of imports, like cottons, they simplify, by modified phraseology, subject to the duties intended by the Dingley act goods which, through customs rulings, have for years been paying not ten per cent of the duty the law designed they should pay. To prevent evasion of duties in this manner, in future, the bill provides for a customs court of appeals.

"The bill which came from the House was given most careful examination in the Senate and 847 amendments were made by the Senate finance committee. Of these, the conference committee reported only 124, and the House accepted 723. All of these amendments are in the interest of the wage earner and producer, who are likewise the bulk of the consumers.

High Wages Assured

"The result is a bill that insures the continuance of work at the highest wages known in the world. Many of the Senate amendments increased the rates proposed in the House bill, and in this the California producers are especially favored.

"It has been a notable fact that throughout the extra session, there has been, as far as I recall, not one demand from the thousands of Californians who have written to me on the subject for a reduction of duty on California products, except in the case of hides. With this exception, I have been urged to strive to increase the duty on practically everything in which California is interested as a producer.

"As will be remembered, there was special insistence from California growers that the duty on lemons be increased to 1-1/2 cents. The House bill provided 1-1/4 cents, but the growers were not satisfied, and the California delegation worked vigorously for this higher rate and secured the increase of fifty per cent above the Dingley rates.

"Another fight was made for orange oil, which under proper protection, will be an important California product. It was placed on the free list, but, in the Senate, we succeeded in securing a provision for an ad valorem duty of fifty per cent. This, however, was stricken out in conference. But the oil, having been taken from the free list, it falls naturally under the paragraph covering distilled and expressed oils, and has a protective duty equal to one dollar a pound.

Increased Duty

"The duty on figs we increased in the Senate from 2 to 2-1/2 cents and we raised the tariff on hops from 12 to 16 cents, which will be of great benefit to all the Pacific coast States. The duty on brandy we increased 44 per cent, on wines, from 12 to 71 per cent; on liquors from 200 to 500 per cent; on grapes, 25 per cent, all of which are in the interest of the California producer. Sugar beets are given in duty of 10 per cent, prepared vegetables, 40 per cent, split peas, 45 cents per bushel; seeds, except sugar beet, from 4 to 20 cents per pound. Currants, specially prepared, have an additional duty of half a cent a pound.

"In fact, practically every product of California soil either retains the Dingley rate, which has proved to be satisfactory, or has been further protected by an increase in the duty on competing products. The vineyard, the orchard and the field are, on the whole, therefore, in a better position to meet competition than under the old law. For this result, the California delegation has worked vigorously and harmoniously from the beginning of the agitation for tariff revision to the present time, and they are more than pleased with the position in which the new act leaves the State of California.

Reduction in Steel

"The lumber schedule was reduced by the conference committee, but in this, our State is not so much interested as are some other parts of the country. Our builders, however, are greatly interested

WILL ESTABLISH SATURDAY CLASS

Manual Training and Domestic Science Will Be Subjects Taught

The Board of Education at its meeting last night awarded the contract to the Pacific State Telephone and Telegraph Company to install twenty-five telephones in the various schools at a rental of $1.75 per month for each 'phone. It was decided that in the very near future three classes in manual training and domestic science would be opened on Saturday afternoons for the benefit of those who could not attend the classes now running.

On the recommendation of Dr. A. S. Kelly it was also decided to make music one of the regular courses in both High Schools of Oakland, this being done because the University of California requires a knowledge of music from pupils upon entrance.

In the duties on manufacture of iron and steel, which have been reduced all along the line from 6 to 74 per cent, as have also rates on window glass. In steel rails the reduction is 50 per cent.

"The general demand from California that hides be placed on the free-list makes it plain that the action taken meets with approbation, especially in view of a reciprocal reduction in the duties on shoes, harness and other manufactures of leather. The reduction of 32 per cent in the duty on blumensous coal will also, undoubtedly, be approved. Agricultural machinery has also been reduced about 20 per cent.

"On the whole, therefore, I think that the new law is particularly favorable to California, practically all of whose interests have received such protection as to insure their continued prosperity, while new duties have made it possible to engage profitably in the production of other commercial articles, like orange oil.

"The interest which has been taken by California in the revision of the tariff was made evident all through the special session by the thousands of letters received suggesting increases in rates or the establishment of new duties for articles not, heretofore, protected; and that there was no demand that duties on California products be reduced was emphasized by the fact that, as before stated, there was only one request for a lower rate, namely, that on hides.

Vigorous Debate

"While the debate in the Senate on the different schedules has been very full and vigorous, the attacks on the measure as presented by the finance committee of the Senate have had the beneficial effect of demonstrating the necessity for adequate protection for all our industries. If our phenomenal growth and prosperity are to continue, when an onslaught was made on any special branch of manufacture or other industry, and attention was confined to a particular case, convincing facts were forthcoming to show that if that particular branch of production was not given adequate protection against foreign competition it must fail; that, if it failed, thousands of wage-earners would have no work; that if they had no work, the number of consumers would be reduced—in fact, that a general reduction of duties all along the line would mean an era of hard times, in which the men in factory, mine and field would suffer most, and all of us suffer much. Therefore, it became evident to the majority, and I think to the Democrats as well, that it would be more than dangerous to depart far from the rates of the Dingley tariff, and that it was their duty to maintain those rates, under which we have made such amazing progress, except in cases where it could be shown conclusively that a lower rate would work no danger to the cause of labor. That has been done, and the result is a bill that, I am confident, will usher in a new era of prosperity.

Admirer of Taft

"One of the most significant features of the tariff revision is the position assumed and maintained by the President. Under the full realization of the dignity, the power, the function and the responsibility of his high office, he watched with care the progress made on the bill, interfering neither by command, suggestion or otherwise with the deliberations of the law-making body. This course has won for him the respect and confidence of every member of the two Houses. Only when he was needed by the conference committee did he make known his wishes in certain matters, and coming then at the proper time they had the effect of at once clearing away obstacles and opening the road to a perfect agreement.

In this, the President showed the ability of his predecessors and the tact of McKinley—a combination of great qualities which presage a most brilliant, honorable and useful administration.

"The President has impressed his mark on the new bill in no uncertain way. The manner in which the vexatious questions growing out of hides, gloves, boots and shoes, lumber, oil and a few other articles were settled, gave evidence of his fairness, his respect for Congress and the respect of Congress for him.

Corporation Tax

"His advocacy of the corporation income tax, also, served to place that provision in the bill, and sent the general income-tax proposition to the country at large for its decision. A customs court of appeals will be established, and authority is given the President to employ experts to collect data on tariff matters, which will be of great service in the consideration of tariff questions in the future.

"The administration of the customs laws has been improved, and it is believed that under-valuation of imports will, thereby, be rendered far more difficult than now. The maximum and minimum principle in tariff rates is established by the bill, the President being empowered to grant the minimum rates to those countries which give us their best rates on our products.

"The President's watchful care over the

OFFER HOME FOR CONSUMPTIVES

County Anti-Tuberculosis Society May Secure Building Near Niles

The Board of Directors of the Alameda County Anti-Tuberculosis Society have received a tentative offer of a building situated near Niles, and not yet in a state of completion, to be used as a hospital for patients having tuberculosis. The building was originally intended for consumptives, but funds were not available for the carrying out of the enterprise and it is now offered to the Alameda County Society. The following committee will visit the building this coming Sunday to decide upon its merits: President Kenneth A. Millman, Vice-President Dr. Edward von Adelsberg, Treasurer George P. Baker, and A. Alexander and E. A. Major, each chairman of sub-committees.

The society is particularly anxious to get a hospital for the care of consumptive patients as there is no institution in Alameda county at present where such patients are admitted except the County Hospital, where the accommodations are very inadequate.

If the building at Niles meets with the approval of the committee, steps will at once be taken to secure the necessary funds for its purchase and equipment. Special efforts will be made to interest people of means in this charitable work.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Holbrook Blinn has thrown up his contract with Charles Frohman, under which he was to have created the part of Thibault, Prince of Clair, in Henri Bernstein's new play, "Israel," which Frohman is to produce here soon.

Blinn has booked passage on the steamship Campana and will leave today for London to look after his interest in a playhouse there. He is to return in a few weeks, and, according to report, he will resume his position as leading man in Mrs. Minnie Madden Fiske's company.

The reason for his break with Frohman has not been learned. This is said to be the first time a leading player has ever withdrawn from an engagement with Charles Frohman.

CLAIMS HE WAS VICTIM OF THIEF IN HOTEL

VALLEJO, Aug. 11.—With even the shirt buttons cut from his shirt, his diamond ring gone and his suit case full of new clothing, missing, William Fleming, a San Francisco hotel fireman of Mare Island, returned to his home here yesterday claiming that he had been drugged and robbed in an unknown San Francisco hotel. Fleming states that the location of the hotel is unknown to him because he is unfamiliar with the streets.

Fleming left here to take a steamer for Seattle, where he has a new position. He claims that he took a drink with a newly found acquaintance and that his mind became a blank soon afterward, and that he did not regain his composure until this morning.

Reduction on Necessities

"The new tariff bill adds only $3,673,826 to the revenue from imports, on the basis of imports for 1907. The increase in duties on luxuries amounts to $8,000,000, but the tariff on necessities has been reduced by about $4,500,000, leaving the net increase as above. The total revenue from the bill will be, on the basis of the imports for 1907, $322,793,358, which is over $10,000,000 less than it would have been under the Senate bill as reported.

As the new bill provided so slight an increase in revenue, while additional expenses are authorized in the way of commissions, public buildings, improvement of rivers and harbors, coast fortifications, new navy, customs court, etc., it became necessary to raise money by other means to meet these increased expenditures and to cover the annual deficit which has grown very large. The corporation income tax and an increase in the tax on tobacco were adopted as the best means of meeting the situation.

"The corporation income tax and the increased internal-revenue tax on tobacco will bring in about $25,000,000 additional revenue, which sum it was necessary to secure in some way to provide for the deficiency in the public revenue, which has fallen that much short of meeting the annual expenses. The duties on imported goods could not be made to furnish the money necessary for all expenses without a very material increase in rates, and, as the Republican party was pledged to lower duties, some other way to raise money had to be found, and the corporation-tax favored by the President was adopted. The extra revenue could easily have been raised from tea and coffee, but as these articles are the necessities of the wage-earner particularly, it was judged not to be fair to them to subject them to a tax, and so they remain on the free list, which has been increased by several hundred articles more than appear in the Dingley Revenue Tariff Act."

BOY'S SEVERE BLEEDING ECZEMA

Covered with Bleeding Humor when a Baby—Poor Little Sufferer Found No Rest and Could Only Fret and Cry Until Very First Use of Cuticura Brought Sleep.

JUSTICE OF PEACE TELLS OF CURE BY CUTICURA

"My baby boy was afflicted with eczema. It ran over him and he was full of sores from his head to his feet. When the bottom of his feet were full of cracks with the blood coming out, I believe that his case was as bad as it generally gets, for he was bleeding all over and could not rest. He was too small to tell anything about it, only to fret and cry. We could get nothing to relieve him up, we got Cuticura Ointment and the first application of the Ointment put him to sleep. Then we used Cuticura Remedies and Cuticura Soap and he continued to improve until cured. The boy is all right now and has been for the last seven or eight years. I believe that the Cuticura Remedies will cure all cases of eczema if used right, as I know that they were the first things that gave our baby relief. D. J. FIRES REVOLVER AS FIRE ALARM

Steam Atomizer Explodes and Scatters, Burning Alcohol on Asthma Sufferer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The explosion of a steam atomizer which he was using as a cure for asthma, almost caused the death of Samuel Jacobs, a flourishing goods dealer of 129 Hayes street, at 5:45 o'clock this morning. Jacobs had just risen and was applying the atomizer according to his custom, when a deafening explosion occurred, and his clothing immediately became enveloped in burning alcohol. Being alone, and fearing that he would burn to death, he grasped a fire revolver and fired a shot out of the window, at the same time doing his best to beat out the flames, which had spread to a box of fireworks.

Police Wuth and Timbs, responding to the sound of the shot, hurried to the scene, assisted Jacobs in quenching the flames which had burned some of his clothing and turned him in an ambulance to the hospital. The fire department extinguished the blaze with a nominal loss, and as Jacobs had escaped with a few minor burns, he refused to go to a hospital.

5 MILES OF LAND SURROUND HOME

E. H. Harriman Insures Privacy for Himself in Country Estate

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—When E. H. Harriman returns from Europe next month it will be to occupy one of the finest country residences in America. The finishing touches are being placed on the house, which stands on Tower Hill, near Arden, N. Y. From this elevation of 800 feet, a superb view is obtained of the Hudson and the great city of New York.

Harriman has constructed a storm mansion costing more than $100,000 on the summit of this hill and overlooking the Hudson and the city. The estate includes a beautiful lake and several rivers. PROFESSOR FRANKLIN SECURES NEW POSITION

SAN JOSE, Aug. 11.—Professor F. B. Franklin, who lost his position on the faculty of the University of the Pacific at the end of the last semester when Dr. W. Guth, the new president of the institution, discharged several instructors to make room for new blood, has secured another position. He will leave on Saturday for Albany, Or., where to become instructor of history in Albany College.

Constipation the Cause of Disease

Nature's Own Remedy. Constipation is not only disagreeable, it is dangerous. If allowed to become chronic it will prove the forerunner of disease. Nature intended the bowels to move regularly once a day. If the delicate stomach and bowels are the keystone to the physical organization and should be kept in normal working order to preserve health. When the bowels become sluggish they require a natural and harmless laxative. Too often they are permanently damaged by powerful drugs taken for mere action. In the famous Natural HYGIENIC JANOS' Water, Nature herself has provided her own harmless laxative which can be relied on for quick and sure results. One-half an ounce of this water will cure constipation, move the bowels gently and comfortably. A bottle costs but a trifle and contains many doses. Look out for unscrupulous druggists, who will substitute unless you ask for Hygienic JANOS'.

Insulting Jurors in Court.

We quote this extract from the Call's report of the proceedings in the Calhoun trial:

"At that Stanley Moore arose to protest at what he termed 'this practice of protracting an examination interminably,' and Langdon was on his feet in a moment. 'I know the juror is not stating the truth,' he shouted, 'and as a representative of the people of the State of California I desire to unmask him, and that is what I propose to do!'"

The District Attorney's remarks were directed at a salesman then under examination touching his qualifications to serve as a juror. Counsel for the defense had objected to Mr. Langdon continuing an inquisitorial disputation with the salesman with respect to the ethics involved in the prosecution. The District Attorney, offended at the salesman's answers, explosively charged him with not telling the truth.

Is not this an abuse of court privilege? Has a prosecuting officer any right to insult and browbeat and charge with perjury a prospective juror under examination?

A salesman is subjected to an examination for the purpose of ascertaining his state of mind; his answers determine his fitness to serve as a juror, and are to be taken merely as indicative of his mental attitude. It is not the business of the attorneys on either side to dispute with him or quarrel with his statements, much less take advantage of the situation to impugn the integrity and veracity of men who return unsatisfactory replies to the interrogatories addressed to them. Mr. Langdon made the methods of the prosecution an issue with the salesman, and when it developed that the latter entertained unfavorable impressions with respect to the immunity contracts and the testimony procured through the immunity deal with the hoodling Supervisors, he yelled out that the salesman was not telling the truth—in other words, he charged that the salesman was stating a belief that he really did not entertain. No man can tell whether or not another states his opinions correctly, hence it is evident that the District Attorney disputed the salesman's veracity to break the force of his statements.

But was not the whole episode a violation of the decencies of the courtroom and a grave breach of judicial decorum? Who gave the District Attorney license to insult a salesman whose answers displease him? Having asked the salesman his opinion of certain matters he should have been content with the responses, since they had no other pertinence than establishing the salesman's fitness to serve as a juror. As the answers clearly disqualified him from serving, Mr. Langdon should have had him excused from the box and called the next man on the venire.

It was not only irrelevant and a waste of time to quarrel with the salesman and dispute his veracity, but it was blackguardly and a gross offense against good manners, fair play and the comity of judicial process.

However, Mr. Langdon's offense was not so great as that of the judge who permitted the exhibition to go unrebuked. It is the countenance Judge Lawlor gives to such outbreaks by the prosecuting attorneys that causes their frequent repetition. Because the judge "stands in" with the prosecuting officers, and gives silent approval to the insults hurled at salesmen, they persist in making it unpleasant for all who express opinions derogatory to the prosecution and the methods employed in its furtherance. Hence jury duty is made odious, and the difficulty of obtaining a jury made almost insuperable. Thus the trial is prolonged beyond all reason, and its character takes on a complexion that revolts fair-minded men. It is the duty of a judge to protect jurors and witnesses from outrage and insult, but Judge Lawlor seems to hold to the theory that a juror who fails to be subservient to the prosecution is to be regarded and treated as an outlaw. If he were to give expression to his real feelings on such occasions he would lead off with a handclap when the District Attorney insults a salesman with hardihood enough to express disapproval of the immunity contract and its hoodling beneficiaries.

Sulphur Cured Fruit Test.

The department of pathology of the State University is about to put the theories of Dr. E. W. Wiley, the chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, regarding the effects of sulphured fruit on the human system to a practical test through the agency of a class of twelve student volunteers. The proposition is to feed the class largely on a sulphur-cured fruit diet. The class is to be composed of students and co-eds taking the pre-medical college courses. These students will receive a monetary compensation and be boarded free of charge during the period of the experiment. The test will be made under the direct supervision of Dr. A. E. Taylor, head of the pathological department, and the results obtained will be submitted to a board of referees consisting of Dr. Taylor, Professor Ira Remsen, Johns Hopkins University; Professor Russell H. Chittenden, Yale; Dr. John H. Long, Northwestern University, and Dr. C. A. Harter, College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. The report of the board will be forwarded to Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson.

The object of the test is to settle the contention that has arisen between the fruit-growers of this State and Dr. Wiley, growing out of the condemnation by the latter of sulphuring fruits in the process of curing for the market. At present the practice is tolerated by the Secretary of Agriculture pending the submission of evidence by the fruit-growers that dried fruit so cured is positively harmless, a result which they are confident will be shown by the practical test about to be made.

It is something extraordinary that an objection should be raised at this late day against the use of sulphur on the ground that it is a poisonous substance, when it is in evidence that generations unnumbered of the Anglo-Saxon race have been raised on a regular spring diet of sulphur and molasses for the purification of the blood. Nobody prior to Dr. Wiley's taboo of sulphur ever raised his voice against its use by the millions of mothers and grandmothers for the benefit of their offspring. However, it may be assumed in advance that the scientific test which is about to be made will put an absolute quietus to this particular croquet of Dr. Wiley, whose peculiar bent of mind seems to detect poison in almost every form of prepared food consumed by human beings.

The farmers of the west side of the Sacramento Valley have organized an association to market their products without the assistance of the middlemen, whose commissions eat up the bulk of the profits in farming. The farmers have discovered that the professions of the middlemen that they are the means of bringing buyer and seller together is a myth, for in reality the success of their business depends on keeping buyer and seller apart. The new farmers' association intends to sidetrack the middleman and deal directly with the buyers of such produce as is raised on their farms.

Evidence of Oakland's Growth.

Nothing expresses more forcibly the rapid growth of Oakland than the statement of Street Superintendent Howe, as published in THE TRIBUNE last evening, in which he shows that during the fiscal year ending June 30th approximately forty-six miles of new macadamized streets were added to the city's thoroughfares, twenty-one of which were built under public contract and the department's supervision, and the remaining twenty-five under private contract. The latter having been dedicated to public use and accepted as such, come under the jurisdiction of the city and must be sprinkled and otherwise cared for until something more permanent than macadam—a standardized pavement—is needed by traffic. Then the maintenance of this additional mileage of roadway will become a perpetual charge on the city.

But, at present, that is a matter of no special consequence. The main point at this time is that the forty-six miles of new highways added to the city's thoroughfares represent new territory opened to settlement and which has already been covered with new residences of a character more or less costly. In the aggregate, the improvements which this newly opened territory carries represent the investment of some millions of dollars and an addition of many thousands to the permanent population. These are facts which are irrefutable and, therefore, carry corresponding weight and influence in the consideration of the city's material progress and prosperity. Any city that can show corresponding results will naturally be classed among the prosperous cities of the country. Oakland is certainly in that category.

When nearly a half million dollars is spent in one year under public contract for new street work it ought to carry with it an impressive influence. When over that amount is spent under additional private contract in the same line of work it ought, and it does, carry corresponding weight in the eyes of the intelligent student of events. When both operations are combined, and it is realized that they constitute the basis for double or treble the investment for residence improvements on the property which their construction has made available, the meaning is immensely broadened. Its limits are further extended when it is considered that it has been all done to provide means for the housing of additional thousands to the population. Through the same sources several hundreds of thousands of dollars more have been spent during the twelvemonth in the laying of permanent pavements, the construction of sanitary sewers and the laying of permanent concrete sidewalks, all of which cut a big figure in municipal development. These are all substantial evidences of Oakland's growth whose value cannot be overestimated and whose influence cannot be overstated. We should, therefore, not commit ourselves to the foolish act of hiding our light under a bushel.

Plan of Harbor Improvements.

As a difference of opinion regarding the best method of improving the water front of Oakland harbor by the city has arisen between City Engineer Turner and Engineer Flynn, representing the Oakland Harbor League, Colonel W. H. Heuer, the predecessor of Lieutenant-Colonel John Biddle, as United States Army engineer in charge of harbor and river improvements on the Pacific Coast and now on the retired list, has been called into consultation by Mayor Mott and the city engineer.

The city engineer has prepared plans for the construction of permanent concrete piers and docks which have been intended to be used as the basis for the harbor improvement bond proposition to be submitted to the people for their approval. Engineer Flynn urged the adoption of a plan providing for the construction of a continuous concrete sea wall along the pierhead line and paralleling the channel and the total elimination of the dock feature, as the one offering the least opportunity for shoaling and therefore the least costly to maintain in a state of efficiency. The dock proposition, it is contended, will furnish the greater accommodation for shipping, as it will increase the lineal wharf frontage. It is maintained by Engineer Flynn that the docks will act as catchment basins for the deposit of silt and will need to be continuously dredged to preserve their utility. The plans prepared by both engineers have been submitted to Engineer Heuer and it is understood that both sides to the controversy will submit to his judgment and co-operate in carrying out the method of water front improvement which he may recommend. Pending the filing of Colonel Heuer's report, it is presumed that the submission of the harbor improvement bond proposition to a popular vote will be delayed. In a multitude of counselors there is wisdom, and it is better far that the city should get the best judgment on the plan of improvement before it is begun rather than to proceed with it hastily and thus create a possibility for future leisurely repentance.

A Misdirected Attack.

The vicious attack made on Luther Burbank by the Pasadena Horticultural and Floricultural Association is having the very opposite effect to that which the authors of the defamatory resolution adopted intended it should have. Professor Wickson, dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of California, is advocating the creation of a school of Higher Horticulture and Plant Breeding associated with the State University, and establishing it at Santa Rosa, with Luther Burbank in charge. There is no man in the State better qualified than Professor Wickson to judge Burbank's qualifications and the quality and value of his work. These are the views expressed by Wickson and they are worthy of respectful consideration.

"There should come into existence a Burbank school of plant breeding. It should be a special graduate school, for entrance to which definite prerequisites should be insisted upon. This would give new incentive and impulse to preliminary courses in all universities, in California and elsewhere, and draw to California for special instruction and opportunities for original research those who will be leaders of the next generation in biological science. Then there will gather in Santa Rosa an atmosphere freer from the dust of the varied machinery of scientific extraction, of literature carpentry, and of the coin-rubbing which now covers the situation. It will be an atmosphere which will favor work which shall endure. Burbank is not yet in the environment which will enable him to do his great work for humanity. Such a school would provide these splendid opportunities for the exercise of his powers."

If anybody inquires whether it is not enough for you, tell him no.

What the New Income Tax Law Means

The corporations may well say: "We care not who makes the laws that tax our incomes so long as we write the tariff schedules that guarantee to us higher profits."

It was logical, perfectly logical, that a revenue bill imposing a new tax of 1 per cent upon the net income of corporations should benefit those who own them out of the pockets of the people money enough to pay the new impost, and more. Will the cotton mills in Senator Aldrich's state, in Massachusetts, and New Hampshire groan under the burden of the income tax? Not audibly, we imagine, since the conscienceless increase of duties over the Dingley rates will swell their profits far beyond the amount of the tax.

Thus the mousing writers on economics are laid by the heels. They have been accustomed to say that a tax upon incomes was theoretically sound because it would stay put, it could not be shifted to other shoulders, like a customs duty or a tax on real estate, for instance. Senator Aldrich has shown them how the trick is done.

There is quite a general impression that the information as to the affairs of the corporations gathered in the collection of this tax will be kept secret, save when divulged "at the discretion of the President." That is not so at all. We observe that our contemporary, The Wall Street Journal, declares that, while public service corporations are entitled to have no business secrets whatever, industrial corporations should have "only such secrets as could not be made public without damaging their legitimate business." What would "damage" the legitimate business of an industrial corporation, say one engaged in the manufacture of shoes, tinware, furniture, machinery or parts thereof, cutlery, books, newspapers, jewelry, or any similar articles of use and adornment? The new tax bill requires the corporations to make returns to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, showing their paid-up capital, their indebtedness on bonds, notes, or otherwise, their gross income, their expenses, the total amount of their losses each year, interest paid on indebtedness, taxes, and their net income after making all authorized deductions. This involves, of course, disclosing deficits when deficits occur.

Ordinarily corporations do not like to have it generally known that they have made a deficit, that they have lost money in any given year. Such disclosures to the public in general and to their rivals hurt their credit, are an impediment to their business progress, and might endanger their solvency. Yet the bill declares:

"When the assessment shall be made as provided in this section, the returns, together with any corrections thereof, that may have been made by the Commissioner, shall be filed in the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and shall constitute public records and be open to inspection as such."

Thus the income tax law accomplishes its real purpose, which was to get a Federal official into the business offices of the corporations, not merely of the great public service corporations or the corporations doing an inter-state business, but of every corporation. The revenue-producing quality of the bill is quite negligible, as was proved when the Senate in lightness of heart reduced the tax by half. If revenue had been the purpose a stamp would have yielded twice or thrice as much without raising any question of constitutionality, a question yet to be answered in the case of the corporation tax.—New York Times.

THE RIGHTS of the CRIMINALS

Ex-Governor Charles P. Johnson is doing a great public service in his letters to the Post-Dispatch against the question under torture as practiced by the police. The issue is not local. The police of every big city torture prisoners to extort information from them to be used against themselves or others. The police say they do these things only to the professional criminal. The answer is not good. The police have no right to abuse a man or woman who is a criminal. Even the criminal has rights. He cannot be deprived of life, liberty or property except by due process of law. He cannot be compelled to testify against himself. In England, when a policeman arrests a man, he warns the prisoner that anything he may say will be used against him. This is supposed to be a freer country than England, yet as soon as a man is arrested here, he is subjected to an inquisition under threats and often to the accompaniment of kicks and cuffs. The police have no authority to question under torture or otherwise. The only authority to question rests in the court in which the prisoner is tried. The police proceed upon a theory the exact opposite of that of the law. They believe every man guilty until he is proven innocent. They punish him without trial. They act as judge, jury and executioner. And they are the more ruthless the more helpless the person falling into their hands. Police methods make criminals worse than they would naturally be. We read of city roughs who hate the law, and we think it just natural enuffness. We are wrong. Those men do not hate the law. They hate the police who abuse and maltreat them every time they are arrested. They are clubbed and drubbed on the street and in the calaboose. Their arms are twisted until they "talk" or they are denied food and drink. No one can speak with more authority on the subject than Governor Johnson, who has been in the practice of criminal law for fifty years. His taking up the cause of the unfortunate and sinless against brutal authority, or, rather, no authority, is characteristic of his noble and generous nature. We cannot approve the violation of anyone's rights without inviting the violation of the rights of all. If we permit the police to abuse the known criminal prisoner, they will abuse every person who falls into their hands. If they are allowed to slug the "rats" of the slums they will proceed to give the third degree to a decent girl stenographer in the hope of compelling her to tell the whereabouts of her absconding employer. The police are not our masters, but our servants. They have no authority to do more with any man than hold him for a court to pass upon his guilt or innocence. They must be restrained in their methods or their brutal custom may harden into something like law and we shall all be liable to arrest without warrant and subsection to torture at the whim of any one who wears a star.—St. Louis Mirror.

Luxury in Wheat Belt

With the harvesting of dollar wheat the farmers of Nebraska and the Dakotas are beginning to take relaxation in travel. A large number are going to the Seattle Exposition. Others are going East to visit their old homes. A Central Nebraska man, who was a caller at the Board of Trade recently, will serve as an example of a large class of the farmers in the West. He was a foreigner, a man who came to Nebraska some twenty years ago without money. He has been a hard-working man ever since, and now owns a half section or more of land, all well cultivated, and has all the necessary buildings, machinery and stock that such a farm should have. An old friend of his, a member of the exchange, asked him how he had prospered this season.

He replied: "It has been the best season I have ever had. While I made money from year to year, this season has almost been phenomenal. Crops were good; there was no delay in any farm work, and prices were satisfactory for all grain. They averaged perhaps the best on record for me. I have sold practically every bushel of my wheat, which my sons will thrash and deliver, and now I am taking a little rest. I intend to go to California in a few days."

This is a very good illustration of what prosperity means among farmers of the Western States. They have light wagons and buggies for use in going to town, and automobiles are by no means uncommon on the farms of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas.—New York Evening Post.

Bryan and His New Residence In Texas

If the near news that Mr. Bryan intended to become a citizen of Texas had been confirmed, it would probably have caused much jubilation among the inhabitants of the greatest of Democratic States. It is fitting that the most conspicuous modern Democrat and the staunchest Democratic community should get together. Texas has also an active Ten Million Club, and has ambitions to pass Missouri, Ohio and every Illinois in the race for population. Mr. Bryan is a recruit who would have advertised Texas, and Texas would have welcomed the advertisement.

To one Texas, however, Mr. Bryan's alleged remark, "I expect to continue in politics in Texas," would have brought a most unpleasant shock. The Hon. Joseph W. Bailey could hardly have joined in celebrating the acquisition of a new "leading citizen." He and Mr. Bryan have been politically at odds for nearly twenty years, and big as Texas is it is not big enough to hold two Jeffersonians as aggressive, dominating and imperious as Mr. Bailey and Mr. Bryan. They are antithetical in ideas and feeling, and if both had engaged in politics, one would sooner or later have found the climate of Texas losing its congeniality.

Mr. Bailey has often threatened to forsake Texas if the Texans did not show a more satisfactory appreciation of his qualities as a statesman and punish the "socialists and anarchists" who slander him. It may be that his inclination to migrate would have strengthened once Mr. Bryan had got firmly established on Texas soil and in Texas politics. Why, under such conditions, should Nebraska not have put in the first claim on his new allegiance? Those who believe that wits are sharpened and intellects broadened by a change of environment must regret that the story of Mr. Bryan's intention to migrate to Texas was not well founded, the more so that his renunciation of Texas left no yearning vacuum in Nebraska for Mr. Bailey to fill. An exchange of professors has been arranged among the universities of the chief nation. Texas and the northwest might both gain by shifting of experts in the interpretation of up-to-date Jeffersonianism. We favor the trial.—New York Tribune.

CHAMPION Hard Luck Man

NEW YORK.—Albert Hofner, of Homestead, reached home last night, having walked all the way from New York. He found a letter from his wife, dated July 15, saying she had become homestead and, selling the furniture, had sailed for her home in England.

Hofner says he is the champion hard luck man. He not only walked home from New York, but walked from Homestead to New York to go to work as chauffeur for a Mr. May, living in West Fifty-first street. He obtained the place through correspondence, and not having carfare walked to New York, arriving on July 9 to find that Mr. May had sailed for Europe the day before. Hofner carried a heavy suitcase on his journey, preventing him from boarding freight trains.—New York Tribune.

DENY RUMORS OF SEPARATION

Friends Declare Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Hugo Will Not Be Divorced

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Disregarding current European rumors to the effect that there has been a separation between Dr. Samuel Marcus Hugo, a prominent physician of Nice, and his wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Emanuel of San Francisco, local relatives of Mrs. Hugo deny that there is any probability of truth in the divorce story. Nevertheless, persistent reports have it that the separation is an accomplished fact, and that incompatibility is given as the only reason. Property settlements are said to have been both generous and amicable on both sides and Mrs. Hugo is recovering from a serious illness in the Alps of Switzerland.

Met in Europe

While touring Europe Miss Elizabeth Emanuel met the distinguished physician who afterward became her husband. They were married at Nice nearly three years ago, and Dr. Hugo spends his winters in that city, where he practices his profession. Communication with her since the report of the divorce has been impossible, but in recent letters to her family in San Francisco she has made no allusion to any domestic unhappiness or contemplated separation.

Mrs. Hugo is the youngest daughter of the late Mrs. L. Emanuel, the widow of the senior member of the firm of L. & D. Emanuel of this city. Her sisters, Mrs. Leopold Lowengrund, of 3340 Jackson street, and Mrs. H. Neugass, as well as her brother, J. Emanuel, are prominent residents of San Francisco.

CAUGHT IN AUTO AFTER MAD CHASE

Jack Warner Steals Machine But is Finally Run to Earth

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—After a thrilling and sensational chase totalling one thousand miles in extent, Jack Warner, who stole a $6000 automobile belonging to Dr. Berthiaume, a week ago last Sunday, and with it sought, in a mad dash through the states of California and Nevada, to elude capture, was brought to San Francisco today by Detectives McPhoe and Taylor, and booked on a charge of grand larceny.

Confesses to Theft

Warner confessed to the theft and told the detectives he was an ex-convict, having served two sentences. For three days and nights the detectives in an Oldsmobile clung to the trail of the fleeing man, who was eight hours ahead of them when they reached Los Gatos. From there they followed him to Santa Cruz, from thence to San Luis Obispo, and through the Livermore valley to Stockton and Sacramento.

Machine Breaks Down

At Milpitas they found a man who told them Warner had been delayed several hours by a breakdown. From this point, Warner drove his machine to Reno, Nev., returning to Marysville. When his machine turned turtle, and Warner endeavored to sell the broken machine to a Marysville garage, and was captured by the detectives.

MERCHANTS WILL FIGHT ANY APPEAL

Directors of Exchange Ready to Continue Battle Against Alameda's Tax

The directors of the Oakland Merchants' Exchange held their weekly meeting last night at Central Hall and it was decided to employ counsel to fight any appeal taken by the city of Alameda in reference to the recent decision opposing the special license law on delivery wagons.

A few weeks ago the city of Alameda levied from firms of Oakland who use delivery wagons in Alameda. The Merchants' Exchange took the matter up and the Superior Court of this county held that the law was invalid.

The city of Alameda is dissatisfied with this ruling and has signalled an intention, it is said, of employing counsel to carry the matter to the Supreme Court on appeal. Should the city of Alameda make such a move they will find it contested by Oakland merchants.

Several minor matters were attended to by the directors such as ordering bills paid and the adoption of the minutes of the last meeting.

It was voted to allow the Retail Credit Men's Association the use of the Merchants' Exchange quarters for one month until the new organization could obtain quarters of its own.

A committee reported that their interview with the mayor and the Board of Works relative to the public comfort stations, to be placed underground on Twelfth street near Broadway, was entirely satisfactory and that they were given to understand that the stations were already being planned and would cost in the neighborhood of $6,000.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 11.—Through the bravery of three women, Simon Cohen, an old offender, was captured about 7 o'clock yesterday morning while in the act of robbing a room in the New-castle apartment house. The women who made the capture were Mrs. H. S. Huntley, Mrs. M. J. and Mrs. J. J. Meyers, wife of the proprietor of the apartment house.

Returning from the apartment of a friend about 7 o'clock Mrs. Huntley found Cohen in her room. When she entered he ran out the door past her and rushed into the back room, where Mrs. Huntley at his heels. There Mrs. Huntley grabbed him and called for help. Mrs. McDougall went to her assistance and violently the two struggled to hold the man. Trying to wrench himself from the women, Cohen ran out in the hallway and started down the stairs leading to the street. Aroused by the screams of the two women, Mrs. Meyers jumped in his path and clutching the robber by the coat tails, clung to him until the other women came to her assistance.

When searched at the Police Station Cohen had various valuable plunder, consisting of diamond rings, purses and cash. He is a Jewish immigrant and has been in this country but a few years.

COLLECTOR ARRESTED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—D. H. Booth, formerly a collector for the Dayton Money-Weight Computing Scale Company, was arrested yesterday in Oakland and will be brought to this city to face a charge of misdemeanor embezzlement.

The company last week secured a warrant for his arrest from Police Judge Conlin. Booth is alleged to have failed to turn in about $100 which he collected.

He had been employed by the firm for about two weeks. The specific charge is for the alleged embezzlement of $350. Detective Kyle, of the Oakland Police Department, who was detailed on the case, found Booth at Fourteenth and Clay streets yesterday afternoon. When arrested he declared that he was regularly in the employ of the company and refused to discuss the charge placed against him.

This Illustration Plainly Shows What Rengo Has Done.

Rengo is perfectly harmless, pleasant to take, and it is chewed like fruit or candy. It causes a gradual, harmless but effective reduction in weight, and without leaving wrinkles, which are nearly always present after taking drugs and other dangerous materials commonly called "anti-fats."

There is nothing "just as good" as Rengo.

LIVES FOR WEEK IN STOLEN TANK

Receptacle Weighs Many Tons and it is a Mystery How it Was Taken

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Leslie Kelly for the past week has been living in a steel tank, which he is alleged to have stolen from A. Beauchamp of 34 California street. To this he owed his capture this morning by the police, who have been searching for the tank since its mysterious disappearance two weeks ago.

The tank, which is valued at several hundred dollars and weighs a number of tons, was intact when Beauchamp returned one night, but he found it gone in the morning.

The police were notified and a search began. Yesterday Detectives Conlan and Mackey and Policeman Webb discovered the missing tank in Madrid avenue. Just then a long peculiar sound came from a pipe hole in the tank. Soon the noise of breaking the morning stillness with the precision of a steam saw.

Kelly Asleep Inside

"It sounds very much like a snore," said one of the detectives. Lifting the cover of the tank they peered in and there, curled up on a Turkish rug, was

Kelly. He was arrested and placed in detention, pending an investigation.

How the tank had been removed is a mystery which the police are unable to explain. By what means it was transported to Madrid avenue, a number of blocks distant, is another puzzle, but it is supposed a derrick must have been used.

Needles and pins, needles and pins;
When a man's married his trouble begins,
Unless his wife is the up-to-date kind,
Who saves her time, temper, fuel, body and mind,
By doing her washing the Fels-Naptha way,
And gets it all done in a fourth of a day.

Hard rubbing will wear away iron in time.

Ever notice a washboard that had been used a good while in the old-fashioned way of washing?

Zinc worn thin and wooden edges all worn round?

Clothes are much softer than zinc or wood.

Then just think how much your clothes must have worn away while the washboard was wearing out.

Clothes last twice as long when washed the Fels-Naptha way because there's no boiling to weaken them and no hard rubbing to wear them into holes.

The Fels-Naptha dissolves the dirt so it seems it just rinses out.

You don't need to hard rub it out.

Using Fels-Naptha soap saves fuel, time and health, too, but perhaps you don't care for these things.

You do want your clothes to last as long as possible and for that reason alone you should use Fels-Naptha soap. In Summer and Winter.

STREET SUPERINTENDENT FILES HIS SPECIAL REPORT

Tells of the Work Now Being Done by the Cities of Northwest—Example for Oakland to Follow.

Superintendent of Streets Walter C. Howe today filed with the Board of Public Works a report upon the various classes of street pavements now laid in the cities of the northwest. Superintendent Howe returned a few days ago from his tour of inspection of the northwest, and his report in part is as follows:

"During the past year the writer has visited every city of importance upon the Pacific Coast, from San Diego to the Canadian boundary and has no hesitancy in saying that in point of high grade street improvements, Seattle easily ranks first."

"Seattle cannot be too highly commended for the splendid area of paved streets that extend in all directions from her city center. Accompanying this report is a series of photographs showing different street pavements throughout the city. These photographs are very instructive and show to what extent the standard paved area in Seattle has been carried. Residence streets miles away from the business district are shown paved with asphalt. This condition is not an exception, but the general rule."

People Educated

"The people of Seattle have been educated to the value of permanently paved streets and, where heretofore it required much effort upon the part of the officials to pave a certain area or district, owing to niggardly protests, today there is hardly a dissenting voice when such improvements are proposed. Property that heretofore lay idle a portion of the year for want of tenants has been leased for long periods, rental regularly or sold at an increased value in hundreds of instances, the permanent paved area having improved traffic facilities and general conditions. The city carries on its work upon a large scale. Large districts are selected for improvement at one time and contracts are let involving hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"The business section of Seattle and the warehouse district, contiguous, have been paved almost exclusively with vitrified brick and sandstone block. The value of a good vitrified brick is here demonstrated to the fullest extent. The writer inspected streets laid with this class of paving material and now ranging in age from one to seven years. The present condition would convince the most skeptical of the great wearing qualities of a high grade vitrified product. On First and Second avenues, streets similar to Broadway and Washington, the earliest product of the Duquesne Clay and Coal Company was laid, and although the traffic upon these streets is enormous, the engineering department claims that not one cent has ever been spent upon these streets for repairs."

"Many engineers maintain that vitrified brick is not suitable for streets subjected to heavy traffic. Seattle's experience is a refutation of this theory and practical experience, the convincing fact. Photograph No. 1 herewith shows the first vitrified brick street laid in Seattle. This street, First Avenue, between Tessler and Washington, is nearly eighteen years old, and although in a district subjected to the heaviest kind of traffic, is still in good condition."

"Gutter paving—Sandstone block and standard asphalt streets are usually laid with vitrified brick gutters. "Alley Paving—Alleys, lanes, cul de sacs, etc., are usually laid in vitrified brick. The pavement is laid on an inverted crown, surface drainage being carried by an invert through center. See photograph."

Sensible Method

"Bridges Over Gutters—One of the most noticeable, and, to the writer, most sensible method of runway construction is to be found in the residential section. A general ordinance prohibits the use of wooden or concrete bridges over gutter ways. Wherever driveways occur, the curbing must be carried upon an arc of prescribed radius and a cement runway installed from gutter line to sidewalk."

City of Tacoma

"The city of Tacoma carries on a policy of street improvement similar in many respects to Seattle. "The classes of pavements used are the same. Vitrified brick and sandstone block are used in semi-business, business and warehouse districts. There are many steep grades in Tacoma and in most instances sandstone block is used thereon. Standard asphalt is also a popular pavement. The lower districts of the city contiguous to freight yards and railroads have a concrete pavement, a very pleasing appearance to the eye."

Portland Well Up

"Portland, Oregon, is well up the line in civic improvements and has approximately twenty miles of permanent pavements under way this year. When we consider that our own city has been averaging about two miles of permanent paving per year one can realize the magnitude of Portland's present street paving program. Up to July 1st, 1903, this city has laid and maintains the following mileage of permanent pavements:

Standard asphalt	14.97 miles
Vitrified brick	20.58 miles
Bituminous macadam	15 miles
Haasam (concrete pavement)	36 miles
Vitrified brick	100 miles
Wood block	1.95 miles
Stone block	5.51 miles

Total 244.72 miles
"As will be noted bituminous is the most popular pavement. This pavement is similar to the asphalt macadam pavements laid in Oakland."

Progressive Policy

"The city of Portland is carrying on a strong policy of street improvements. Permanent pavements extend for miles into the residential section, over the heights back of the city are paved with high grade pavements. East Portland is extending standard asphalt and bituminous to the very limits of the city. The district plan of improvement is carried on here upon a large scale. The policy of the city is to avoid improving single blocks here and there, but to reach out and carry the permanent pavement area into large districts adjoining pavements now laid."

"One of the most interesting and noticeable features of Portland's street work can be seen in the outlying districts. Immense tracts have been cut up into residence sites by local concerns and the entire district paved with standard asphalt or bituminous. In many instances hardly a house has been built in the tract to date, yet the permanent pavement is there and there to stay. "All side sewers and gas service pipes in these districts are laid to the property line for each individual lot and in consequence there will be no unsightly trenches or poorly replaced surface asphalt to offend the eye of future residents."

"The prices for street work in Portland are practically the same as in Seattle. The season being somewhat shorter in Oregon and the freight haul from the California asphalt center longer, naturally makes the price of asphalt pavements slightly higher than in Oakland."

"Guarantees of five years are required upon all bituminous and standard asphalt."

Sam Chip, and Miss Marble to Head Big Show at Orpheum

SAM CHIP AND MARY MARBLE, At the Oakland Orpheum.

Sam Chip and Mary Marble will be at the Oakland Orpheum next Sunday, at the head of a vaudeville show that San Francisco theater goers have declared to be the most satisfactory bill that the Orpheum across the bay has ever had. News of the brilliancy of this program has spread to Oakland and the crowds here are prepared for a feast of fat things when Miss Marble and Chip, at the head of a big procession of new vaudeville people, make their appearance next Sunday. The Orpheum management here refers to the coming show "as an immense fun festival."

There is plenty of hilarity at the Orpheum this week. Sam Watson's Farmyard Circus is responsible for most of it. No such animal act ever was sent out here before. The spectacle of roosters who crow at the bidding of Watson, who box and fight with him as he puts on the gloves and disport themselves in general, has brought forth almost universal intelligence is certainly a novelty. The children howl with delight when they find pigs, geese, sheep, roosters, donkeys and dogs all in one big animal act. One of the drollest comedians London has sent us is Griff, the "Juggling Joker" who is assisted by his son George. He came to America unannounced and he subject of street improvements in Oakland would be very incomplete without mention of the crying need of permanent pavements in that district lying between Seventh street and the water front. This section is badly in need of immediate attention. Here are located warehouses, factories, lumber yards and mercantile concerns, representing large industrial interests, all of which operate heavy traffic. "Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and every other city of importance on the coast, have paid particular attention to the heavy traffic sections and in consequence only high grade pavements are to be found in their warehouse and mercantile districts. No such condition as now exists in Oakland can be found in any of the cities mentioned. As a remedy the writer suggests an immediate policy of street improvements by large area districts. The other important points mentioned in this report and by the adoption of which our city can profit should also be pushed forward in a diligent and determined manner, and the writer feels that your honorable board, in its broad policy of civic advancement, will so recommend to the honorable City Council for adoption many of the features covered herein."

"Respectfully submitted,
"WALTER C. HOWE,
"Superintendent of Streets."

SECOND ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE FAILS

Girl Vows She'll End Her Life When She Tries it a Third Time

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—With a mania for committing suicide which she claims she cannot control, and tired of life by reason of an illness covering a period of five weeks, Miss Della Gable attempted to end her existence shortly after 2 o'clock this morning by swallowing an ounce of lysol in her apartment, 1235 Golden Gate avenue.

Her nervous system, caused by the burning liquid sent to her, and she was removed to the Center Emergency Hospital, where the stomach pump was applied and her life saved. This is the second attempt on the part of the young woman, she having, when only 15 years old, taken a quantity of carbolic acid which nearly caused her death, and which was responsible for her being treated at the Harbor Emergency Hospital for three days.

After being removed to her home this morning she stated that she was sorry the poison had not done its work, and declared positively that next time she would make a good job of it, and incidentally use a more painless method.

REAGAN MEETS ATTELL TONIGHT

BOTH SCRAPPERS READY FOR 10-ROUND CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT AT THE PIEDMONT PAVILION

Winner of Contest to Meet Percy Cove at Mission Athletic Club August 20---Jack Johnson Is Due Here Sunday

By EDDIE SMITH.

WHEN Jimmy Reagan and Monte Attell step into the ring at the Piedmont Pavilion tonight for their ten-round championship contest there will be little love lost between them. Attell cares about as much for Reagan as the next door bull dog does for the family cat, and Reagan's great attachment for Attell could be tucked away in the eye of a mosquito. The feeling existing between the two is not the sort where the fighters call each other nasty names and make a business of running each other down, but it is a keen rivalry that has been brought on by the two previous contests between them.

The first time that Monte and Jimmy met the contest went fifteen rounds to a draw. Reagan had a slight shade the better of the contest and his friends in the gallery cheered the referee. That made Jimmy think he had been robbed and he immediately became impressed with the idea that he won by a city block. The result of the event was no particular boost to the championship aspirations of the two boxers and there sprang a coolness that grew each time the pair met.

Attell Whips Reagan in Second Fight

Jimmy Coffroth later matched the men and they met in a forty-five round contest. Attell winning by the knock-out route. In the contest at Coffroth's arena the men had the rather novel experience of both being knocked out in the early rounds. In the eighth round just as the end was drawing near, Reagan swung one of his wild ones at Attell's jaw and the Hebrew sunk to the floor of the ring apparently beaten. At the count of nine seconds the bell rang, thus saving the champion and his seconds, after the minute allowed them, sent him out from his corner in a pretty fair condition. The bell just saved the present champion, however, and he believes himself lucky to this day. Attell came back each round and gave Reagan the beating of his life before the contest was over, but Jimmy has always said that with another chance would put the champion away. Tonight the men meet in a ring that is only sixteen feet square and they must fight. Attell will be at a disadvantage, for he depends a good deal on his cleverness to win and Reagan on his aggressiveness and bull dog fighting tenacity.

Attell is Favorite in Betting

Attell has been made a favorite in the betting at odds of 10 to 6, and will enter the ring at about that price, but it is a false figure any way one figures it. Reagan has had ample time in which to train, has the advantage of having a ring that is just built to order for his kind of fighting and has had the better of Monte in one fifteen-round contest. Monte is the legitimate favorite; he has shown by far the best work of late and is no doubt a cleaner and better boxer. Nevertheless he is being quoted a few points too high.

The other bouts on the program of the Wheelmen's show are as good as one could ask for and the night's sport should prove an exceptionally good one. Frankie Edwards vs. Paddy Ellis, George Leahy vs. Jim Foley, Jimmy Fitton vs. C. Sullivan and Chas. Burns vs. Tony Baroni will make up the preliminary bouts of six rounds.

O'Brien Deal Still in Statu Quo

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien took a spin to the Catalina Islands from Los Angeles yesterday and last night Jimmy Coffroth could not locate him and there was nothing done regarding his contest for the Saturday before Labor Day. Jack is taking things easy down south, but according to Coffroth he is anxious to fight and will acquiesce this man O'Brien to come here and fight for a percentage of any sort of a reasonable purse. He has a great bump of—he ought to be glad we allow him to come through the Golden Gate without a body guard to see that he does not cop the golden hinges. At any rate Coffroth will know what he will do with O'Brien as soon as he gets in communication with him at Los Angeles. One thing is certain, and that is that the promoter will not match him and the fighter so far mentioned will fight him if he sticks to the demand he made some time ago for clean break rules.

If O'Brien comes here he must fight and the least bit of foolishness on his part might end in getting him in bad.

Jack Johnson Due Sunday Night

Jack Johnson will arrive in San Francisco about Sunday and will immediately get into communication with Coffroth regarding his coming fight dates. Sam Berger is rushing to Chicago to get there in time to head the negro off and make him come to some sort of terms with Jeffries, but we will believe that Sam is in earnest when he has done something but talk. Johnson has not shown the right spirit, it is true, but we will see him at work here with the gloves if Ketchel fights Langford at New York. Ketchel has sent word to the promoters that he will fight Langford and it has been said that he will leave for New York in a very few days.

JIMMY REAGAN.

Frank Smith, 'Iron Man,' Now in American League

Frank Smith, the iron-man twirler of the Chicago White Sox, has pitched in almost 50 per cent more games this season than usually comes the way of a twirler.

The rumor of Charley Doolin retiring from the diamond is all nonsense. July 31st has come and gone and Doolin is still holding on and catching! Just as was expected.

With thirteen games won and three lost Harry Krause is still the premier pitcher in the American League. George Mullin of Detroit is second.

Roger Bresnahan's attack of bronchitis is not regarded as serious.

Swarna, of Trenton, is the leading batsman in the Tri-State League, having an average of .337 for forty-six games. Lister, of the "Millions," who has played in eighty games, is four points behind.

John Titus, the Phillies' right fielder who was slated for his release, is certainly hitting some since he learned that his job was in jeopardy.

John Heydler, the new president of the National League, was formerly an umpire. Van Halten played in the East, while Heydler was an "umpire."

George Moriarty, the Tiger third baseman and song writer, has composed verses for several songs that will be heard on the vaudeville stage next winter.

Crawford and Cobb are doing good work with the stick for the Detroit Tigers, both being safely above the .300 mark.

Fred Clarke was about right when he said, "Give the Cardinals a good center-fielder and two first-class pitchers, and the team that beats them will be pennant winners."

After winning fifteen out of sixteen games in a trip around the circuit the Milwaukee Braves returned home and dropped six out of seven.

Rumor has it that Charley Doolin, the League Club, will succeed Joe Cantillon as manager of the Washington team.

The veteran, Sam Crane, says that he never saw a base runner—not even the immortal Mike Kelly—who could or can't get to first base.

Toronto will probably lose its star batter at the end of the season. It is said that Brooklyn has an option on Rudolph, and the New York Americans on Mitchell. Rudolph was involved in the Luden and Mitchell in the sale of Newton.

Morningstar and Hoppe To Play Exhibition Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Ora Morningstar, champion professional billiard player at the 13.2 ball line game, has returned the diamond medal, emblematic of his supremacy, to the company which awarded it to him, and, with Willie Hoppe, will be a free lance in the professional game. Morningstar, after winning the championship and creating a furor among billiard players, was engaged by the manufacturing concern, at a stipulated salary, to play professional matches as an advertisement of the firm's billiard products. Morningstar now contends that the company established for him certain rules in the playing of his games which prevented him from really showing what he could do. His principal objection was that the company would not permit him to play more than a 600-point game, while he considered that the limit for professional games should be 1000 points.

Hoppe and Morningstar have now joined forces and are contemplating a tour of the country giving exhibition games.

Lewis-Burke Fight Is Interesting Gotham Fans

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The ten round fight between Willie Lewis and Sator Burke to be held next Friday night in this city is attracting much interest because the winner has been promised a battle with Billy Papke and may win the right to fight Stanley Ketchel. Lewis says that he will give Burke fifteen pounds when they meet in the ring and that Burke will weigh 158 pounds. Those who observed the brilliant contest won by Lewis in Paris recently have great confidence in him, but the betting seems to favor Sator Burke.

ANTI-BETTING LAWS RETIRE NOTED PATRONS OF TURF

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The absence of former noted patrons of the turf from the race tracks this season is a matter of much comment in New York sporting circles. The old time heavy bettors who made so many good stories are conspicuous by their absence and this is accounted for by the fact that betting has been restricted by the new law.

Among the missing are John W. Gates, John A. Drake, Jesse Levinson, Dave Johnson, "Diamond Jim" Brady, E. R. Thomas, Charlie Ellison, Al Dryer, Frank B. Farrell, Joe Cassidy and "Big Tim" Sullivan, who were in the habit of wagering thousands of dollars on a single race.

WASHINGTON IS TIRED OF Cantillon's Services

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—That Joe Cantillon will not manage the Washington club next year is admitted by those on the inside. It is stated that his three-year contract, which expires at the end of this season, will not be renewed. The Washington public is becoming tired of giving its support to a tail-end aggregation, and generally holds Cantillon responsible for the poor showing made by the team this season.

All runs not smoothly with Mr. Heydler. He was given that high position almost too easily to be true. Now Garry Hermann and Mr. Phette want somebody else as president, naming Mr. Saxton of the "Three-T" league. Charles Webb Murphy advises them to give Heydler a chance, anyhow.

A fat chance Cliff Blankenship has with the Washington Club when Charlie Street, formerly of San Francisco, has caught all of the games this year except three or four. Blankenship holds the same position as an understudy to a star that likes his job.

MAJOR LEAGUE MANAGERS ANXIOUS TO LEARN CONNIE MACK'S SYSTEM OF PICKING UP DIAMOND WONDERS

Philadelphia Leader Successful in Making Stars Out of College Tossers---Uses Quiet and Unostentatious Method

Any good, mediumly good, manager should be able to take a team of baseball stars and show it well to the top in the American League. But to take a crowd of untrained youths, bolstered up by a few veterans, and push that crowd to the front is an accomplishment. That has been the achievement of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics and stands him as one of the greatest men in the baseball business.

There are methods and methods in baseball, and some clubs have no methods, but the system adopted by the wily C. Magillendar (long for Connie Mack) seems to have them all beat. It looks pretty to see Hughie Jennings out on the coaching lines, ranting around, tiring up grass and shouting until he is red in the face, but a system of much less noise seems to have accomplished more for C. Mack.

Ever go to a ball game and try to discover the director general of the Athletics? Ever notice Connie Mack in the dugout? Ever see what becomes of him when a game is over? Well, if you never observed these things, take a look. You will be surprised.

Mack is Reserved

Mack enters the ball park just when nobody knows. His presence is not heralded. He just comes. He never appears in front of the bench during the game a long, lean, anxious-looking man may be discovered in the shade of the visiting club's bench, but that's the nearest he ever comes to the public gaze. When the game commences Connie Mack crosses his legs, unlimbers then, mucks motions with his hands and records religiously what happens to every batter. A gentle wave here or there of the ever-present score card is enough to change the whole course of the game. Mack never passes his signals in a public way. He is the soft-pedal manager. One wave of the card means this and another that. A peculiar little twist of the pastboard removes one pitcher and substitutes another. There is no slack motion in C. Mack's movements. He has the winning business down fine.

After the game C. Mack does not ride to the hotel in the limousine. He walks like the common people, he boards a street car and goes to the hotel. He usually wears a hat more than a crowd is out of the way—he doesn't like to be jostled.

Seeks College Players

With all this easy-going style nothing escapes from Mack's eyes. This is productive of much information—for C. Mack. Ask him how Krause is pitching and he will reply: "Very well. He is a good young man, and he will come back with 'Say, it is Easterly' has been hitting to left field lately much lately. I mean, he's longer you talk to Connie Mack the less he tells you and the more he finds out."

MAJOR LEAGUE MAGNATES ASK PRESIDENT WALTERS HIS PRICE ON PITCHER TYLER CHRISTIAN

Hackett and Myers Fail to Report to Curtin, Heister Shows Up, "Slim" Nelson Comes to Rescue of Wiggs

By HERMAN F. BUDDE.

OF late several of the major league club magnates have been bidding for the services of Pitcher Christian. Only yesterday President Ed Walters received a wire asking what his price is on Tyler, but up to date the former has been holding his own counsel in the matter, believing that if he waits awhile he can secure a big bank roll for the broadcaster.

Christian is pitching better every game, and if he keeps up developing as he has in the past two months he will have all the chiefs in the country after him. This is the prediction of those who have watched him closely, and the opinion which Walters holds, so unless an unusually high figure is offered it is probable that Christian will not be sold until within a few days prior to the drafting period.

In the early part of the year Christian was used as a utility man, and while he made good in that capacity, he is too valuable a slab artist to be given temporary places in the in and outfield.

Out of the three players, "Tub" Hackett, "Hap" Myers and Heister, whom Curtin is said to have signed Sunday at Sacramento to play with his Coast club, only the last named showed up and played yesterday for the Senators. He held down the center field position and made one hit. Hackett and Myers declare that their intentions are to remain with the State Leaguers during the remainder of the season.

Outfielder Darringer of the Saginaw Club, Michigan, has been bought by Manager Graham and is expected to report here by the latter part of the week. The price was $1000. Last week it was given out that Los Angeles had purchased Darringer for $2000, but evidently Graham beat Dillon to it, and at a lower figure.

Like the ebb and flow of the tide was the spirit of the fans yesterday in the game with Sacramento. In the fore part of the exhibition, when the Athenians fell on Brown and bunched in four runs, their spirit rose, the bubbling over point, only to sink a few innings later on Wiggs' unfortunate beating to a flood tide. The pendulum swung again, however, and with it came a flood tide, a batting rally in the lucky seventh, in which the locals clinched the contest and made one hit. Hackett and Myers declare that their intentions are to remain with the State Leaguers during the remainder of the season.

A thousand anxious baseball enthusiasts lifted their voices and their hopes to Cameron and the latter answered the toast in as befitting a manner as a ball player can respond to the honor that has been conferred upon him. What raised him higher in the estimation of the mighty surge of humanity that roiled and tossed on the ocean of an uncertain baseball field is that he is gaining a reputation as a timely hitter, and whenever the Athenians are in a pinch they kind of look to him to be the hero. The role is a type that he likes to play, and yesterday stamps him as a diamond thesman that is to be admired in not every day.

In the seventh the score stood "deadlocked," 4 to 4, and it was not at all sure where the Athenians would find themselves by the time the last round home in view. Everything was nicely fixed for a "lead play" victory, but when the fourth run was made of Brown on singles by Duffey, Lewis, Hogan and McKinnon, the tide turned and the tide turned and the tide turned.

Lewis of Alameda felt the necessity of giving the Reldytes a lift, so he did his duty by cracking out his third hit. Willie Hogan took to the switch-hitting program himself and popped out a two bagger. To be in harmony with the committee on ways and means, Cameron "agreed" and smacked the leather, as he always does when he wants to win a game. The horse hide took one look at the Senators and then hid itself to the center garden, allowing Lewis and Hogan plenty of time to romp in home.

It is not often that Jimmy Wiggs has to be taken out of the box, but yesterday was one of the days when he showed a bad streak. Up to the fifth he twirled right edge ball, allowing but one hit, but in that frame he lost his control and with it his puzzling curves. After Graham had cracked out a two bagger, Brown and Jensen, both considered weak stickers, were passed with a first ball, and then Jensen, who was a walk and error by Gandil and Flanagan, and the latter showed up in good form, pitching the remainder of the game with only two bingles being chalked up against him. Some clever fielding helped "Slim" out. Terry McKinnon knocked down a screamer in the seventh that had waltzers on it. It fairly plowed up the trillions of microbes which make their abode next to another egg. The deal is practically fixed. Terry gobbled it up and winged his man out at first. The play was the occasion for a hip-hip-hurrah for McKinnon.

Only for Duffey Lewis the Aristocrats would have tallied in the second. House was on third when Graham hit a Texas leaguer over short. Lewis made a beautiful throw to his namesake stationed at the rubber. Duffey kept up his good stickwork and batted 1000, getting three hits out of three times up.

Center Fielder Doyle stopped off at Santa Barbara to be at the side of his wife, who is critically ill. Charley, however, is expected back in a couple of days and will camp in his old place at center field.

Deal On to Trade Kling to Brooklyn

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club approached Murphy again on the subject of securing Kling to replace the departed Ebbetts. The deal is practically fixed. Kling is expected to report to Brooklyn next spring as manager of that club.

"Yes, we might trade Kling to Brooklyn," said President Murphy yesterday. "But so far Ebbetts has declined to accept our terms. We want Lummey, Rucker, Hummel, and Catcher Irwin, now with the Rochester Club in the Eastern League, who belongs to Brooklyn."

CHESBRO'S PITCHING RECORD EQUALED BY REULBACH

Twirler Chance Wanted to Retire; Wins Fourteenth Straight Yesterday

All eyes are on Edward Reulbach, the sensational pitcher of the Chicago club. Yesterday he won his fourteenth straight victory, equalling the record made by Jack Chesbro in 1886. The Brooklyn team was unable to score a run at all and after the 8 to 2 game a cheering procession was formed. The crowd numbered 19,000.

The record of twenty-four straight made by Jack Chesbro in 1886 was equaled by Reulbach yesterday. The record was made in 1886 when the pitcher was 24 years old. Reulbach is now 28 years old. The record was made in 1886 when the pitcher was 24 years old. Reulbach is now 28 years old.

While all the eyes twirlers of the country are shooting at Jack Chesbro's mark, it is not to be forgotten that the league or retirement. It is very likely that he will quit. He has a good record and a good team. He has a good record and a good team.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble, the most such treatment can do is soothe the pain temporarily, while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S.S.S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S.S.S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

WINNERS IN WAN-TAD CONTEST

Since we published the list of winners on Sunday, Little Wan-Tad has been almost swamped by the many hundreds of letters received. Answers were received from all parts of the State and a great many were so good that it wasn't easy to decide to whom the prizes should go. But those who were not successful this time will be able to win them next time, so don't be discouraged. TRY AGAIN. Couldn't you make good use of the five dollars in cash we give as the first prize? And the pictures which we give as the dollar prizes would ornament any room. Read the correct answers below carefully and it may help you in sending in your answers in the future.

We wish to again warn our readers that in setting up the large number of classified advertisements that appear daily, occasionally a typographical error will creep in one of the ads, which might be taken for the misspelled word. The word intentionally misspelled, however, is usually self-evident and can be easily detected. To be sure, send in all the words you find misspelled on the classified page and you will be sure to get the right one. Then on the misspelled word in the contest is always on the classified page. We have received answers referring to display ads.

THE WINNERS TODAY ARE:
First prize, $5.00—Ethel C. Scott, 1076 62nd St., Oakland.
$1.00 prize—Ora E. Arnold, 355 Hudson street, Oakland.
$1.00 prize—Mrs. R. McCormick, 1104 San Pablo Ave., Oakland.
$1.00 prize—John Heans, 842 Franklin St., Oakland.
$1.00 prize—Miss A. E. Smith, 1360 Grove St., Oakland.
$1.00 prize—William H. Button, 900 M St., Sacramento.

SATURDAY
HAIR priceless! Defects remedied; advertised fakes; see Hair Doctor. Kuester, established reputation of 28 years' residence. 3 Telephone aye.

In this ad, "reputation" should be "reputation." That was certainly an easy one to pick out. The reason given by Miss Smith as to why Dr. Kuester should be patronized was as follows: "Dr. Kuester's long residence in Oakland has made him well known, and the fact that he is a physician and a lady (myself included) who can testify to the value of his treatment and remedies for the hair."

SUNDAY
OAKLAND RATTAN CO., 25th and San Pablo. Phones Oakland 2786, A 2786. Baby carriages, go-carts and rattan goods at lowest market prices; all kinds of repairing; goods always on hand. In order to "Go-carts" should be "go-carts." This must have been the easiest mistake to find of any that have been published so far, judging from the number of answers we received.

Miss Scott's answer won the $5.00 prize, and her reason why this firm should be patronized was: "All true Oaklanders are for a finer, larger and better store than the one that has been the best of our city. This fact may be accomplished by patronizing home industry."

"Give the Oakland Rattan Company a trial and be convinced. Their goods are reliable, up-to-date and modern, with the lowest prices of any rattan firm."

"All housekeepers know that rattan furniture keeps cleaner and wears longer than any other material. The simple reason that the rattan will not break under strain and gives comfort and satisfaction. Here's for a Greater Oakland and continued prosperity for the Oakland Rattan Company."

Mr. C. O. Ratt's letter, which won a $1.00 prize, reads as follows: "We all like our houses to look nice on the outside, but we like them furnished nicely inside also. Why not have a rattan parlor for the parlor of that new home? We also like baby to have the nicest things procurable. Why not get him a rattan buggy or go-cart? They always show taste and the price is as low as fit any purse. "First-class rattan goods of all descriptions can be had for low prices at the Oakland Rattan Company, 25th and San Pablo Avenue, Oakland."

Mr. C. O. Ratt's letter, which won a $1.00 prize, reads as follows: "One reason this firm should be patronized is that they live up to what they advertise."

MONDAY
ELECTRIC baths and massage; rheumatism a specialty; gentlemanly attention; chiropody. Mrs. M. Turner, Delgado Bldg., 14th and Broadway, Oakland 3550, day work. 850, evenings.

In this ad, the word "massage" is misspelled. This is fine practice for boys and girls who are spelling is not their strong point. Have a dictionary handy when you are looking for these words and when you are not sure of one, consult Mr. Webster.

"Hungry" letter is given below: "The day will come soon when it will be recognized as the best and only treatment."

TUESDAY
R. U. HUNGRIE? Call at Loebe's Quick Service Lunch Room, 973 Franklin St.

I should think all the boys and girls would know how to spell this word, since it is a very common one in their vocabulary.

"Mr. Evans' letter is given below: "Ladies should be patronized because he puts up good food at a fair price, and is not afraid to say so to the public, through the agency of THE TRIBUNE."

WITCH DOCTORS LET BABIES DIE

Mystic Words and Red Rag Used as Cure For Infant Disorder

READING, Pa., Aug. 11. — Coroner Strasser is busy securing evidence in the case of the six infants who died since noon yesterday after alleged treatment by witch doctors for nothing but summer complaint. He has reported the matter to the district attorney.

Reading is known for its many witch doctors, and there have been cases in court time and again of people who claimed that their neighbors "killed" them. No sooner does a child become ill in this section than the neighbors rush in and declare the child is "cursed." The result is that a poor doctor with infanticide is sought.

Several of the children who died were simply treated with mystic words and a red cotton rag was passed over the body. In some cases a half centing charmed words was hung about the neck. "Many children do every summer from summer complaint who do not have an attending physician," said the coroner. "I find that the parents spend their money calling in old women who make a practice of poisoning and using charmed words."

DOCTOR FLEES AS PATIENT DIES

Physician Fears Being Mobbed When Chloroform Kills Boy

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. — The sudden and excited departure of Dr. Philip Sussman from the apartment of Mrs. Abraham Sussman in an East Side tenement house yesterday morning, was explained later by the doctor to Coroner Nabinger as being occasioned by his fear that the woman and her family would attack him when they learned of the death of her 10-year-old son. The doctor was attending Dr. Sussman's case (called 1) perform an operation on the boy's knee, and to do so he said that he had administered chloroform. The doctor, who is a Russian, was called in by the family when they learned of the death of the boy. He was told that the boy was going for an operation, and he was called in until they discovered that he was dead. The neighbors would have mobbed him.

When the doctor did not return to the house in a half hour the mother discovered that her son was dead and called in the police. The coroner will hold an inquest.

FALLS FROM WINDOW IN FLEEING FROM FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11. — One of the men who escaped from a fire at 5 o'clock this morning, so agitated the old man, that trying to jump to his feet, he fell from the window of the second story, and was killed.

His strength failed him, and he slipped and fell to the pavement, breaking a severe strain of the back, and an injury to his left hand. The fire which broke out in the room of Edward Pendergast, at Grove and Octavia streets, underneath the flat occupied by Burke, is supposed to have been caused by a heated cigarette. It was extinguished with minimal damage. Burke, who could easily have escaped by the stairs, was sent to the Emergency hospital by Police man Nielsen.

COL. POPE, BICYCLE MANUFACTURER, DIES

BOSTON, Aug. 11. — Colonel Albert Pope, well known in automobile and bicycle circles throughout the United States and Canada, died at his summer home in Cohasset, Mass., yesterday. Colonel Pope had been ill for several months, due to the breakdown of his nervous system, which followed the financial embarrassment of his bicycle company, the largest concern of its kind in the country, which had its headquarters in Hartford, Conn. Pope started his business career as a clerk in a local shoe store at $4 a week in 1876. The first imported bicycles began to appear in this country, and Colonel Pope, seeing an opportunity, decided to start manufacturing wheels. The venture proved a success from the start.

FITCHBURG CLUB WILL DISCUSS IMPROVEMENTS

The Ladies' Scottish Rite Club will hold their first meeting Friday evening, September 10.

RENEWS WAR ON WATER COMPANY

Wm. M. Hatfield Hopes to Make Concern Forfeit
Plant to City

By means of a suit begun two years ago against the Peoples' Water Company, William M. Hatfield, owner of the Jaurita Hotel, 551 Eighteenth street, and known as a water company fighter, intends to renew his war against the corporation with the object of compelling it to forfeit its plant and franchise to the city as provided by the constitution and statutes of the state.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court upholding the rights of the City Council to fix water rates has sustained the contention of Hatfield in his suit, and caused him to cease negotiations for a settlement of the matter out of court. The hotel man began suit in March, 1907, alleging that he had been charged rates in excess of those fixed by the council for that year. He asked for damages to the amount of $5,000. Previous to this action Hatfield demanded to the payment of the alleged high rates and the company turned off the water in his hotel. He secured an injunction compelling it to turn on the water.

POLICE QUELL RIOT IN CLUB

Camera Club Members Demand Resignations of President and Directors

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11. — The police were called in to quell a dispute among the members of the Camera Club last night when the board of directors tried to rush through an "obnoxious resolution." Heated debate swelled into a tempest of shouting argument, punctuated by women's screams. The crowd rose en masse. Threats were hurled and the resignation of the president was demanded.

A long spell of disaffection with the conduct of the club's affairs by President Walter A. Scott and Directors F. W. G. Moebius, I. O. Crosscup, A. E. Auerbach and F. W. Prince reached a climax when the board tried to impose additional charges for privileges upon the members. In the excitement the crucial question was unsettled, but a special meeting is to be called and it is said that the resignation of President Scott and his four directors will be demanded.

The police, when they arrived at the scene of the disturbance, made no arrests but warned the members that they must proceed in an orderly manner.

PREPARE FOR TAFT.
EL PASO, Aug. 11. — Ignacio De La Barra, brother of the Mexican ambassador to the United States, and a committee of three other Mexican officials arrived at Juarez across the Rio Grande from El Paso last night. They will take steps to put the city into suitable condition for the coming meeting between Presidents Taft and Diaz.

HEUER TO REPORT ON HARBOR PLANS

Will Consider Availability of Those Mapped Out by City Engineer

The proposed changes in the harbor depth was the subject of a conference at a meeting of Colonel W. H. Heuer, who has been asked to act as consulting engineer on the Oakland water front improvements, Mayor Mott and City Engineer Turner at the mayor's office yesterday afternoon. Copies of the plans submitted to Colonel Heuer have been submitted to Colonel Heuer for criticism and he will make a report on their availability some time this week.

Colonel Heuer is one of the most experienced engineers in this country. He was colonel in the corps of engineers in the United States army for many years, and for the last five or six years before his retirement he was division engineer in charge of the Pacific Coast. He was succeeded upon his retirement by Colonel John Biddle, United States army on this coast. Colonel Biddle has always been friendly to the project of improving Oakland harbor, and has assured the members of the Chamber of Commerce of his support in placing the matter before the government authorities. If the city and the private property owners will do their share and improve their property to correspond with the work asked from the government.

TAKE THE TIME TODAY

One Place in Oakland That You Should Visit.

In the busy things of life it may be that many of Oakland's best people are overlooking some of the important places and events. On Washington street there are many handsomely appointed and well stocked stores, but none have finer show window facilities or more pleasing interior woodwork effects than the store of Mesmer-Smith, the haberdashery and shoe merchants. The magnitude of the merchandise found in this store is not comprehended in first entering the store. Tier upon tier of shoes may be seen, while that only represents a small portion. In the rear of the haberdashery department and suit department is also an auxiliary stock for men's wear. This is not all yet. If you have time to pass down stairs you will see thousands more.

A little housecleaning has just been going on since Mr. A. J. Mesmer's retirement from a long rest at Tahoe, and ten days of value unheard of before will greet the eye of the economical.

LOOK FOR THEM TODAY.

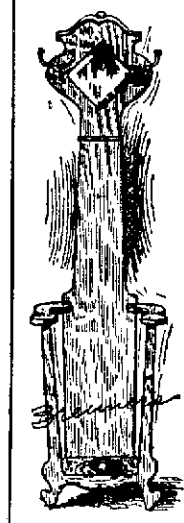

Little things that are hidden from view, but easy to find. Not animal, vegetable or mineral, but makes you money. Little things that have been secured from first-class firms and contain a misspelled word.

For a number of weeks, to the one sending in the first correct answer in each one of the successful contestants, also the best and briefest reason why the advertiser in question should be patronized, a prize of $5 in cash will be paid.

For the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth answers, in the order received, prizes to the value of $1 apiece in merchandise will be awarded to each one of the successful contestants. These merchandise prizes are now on display in the window of Hill & Sells' store, northeast corner Ninth and Washington streets.
